In addition to Replacement Sheets containing the corrected drawing figure(s), applicant is required to submit a marked-up copy of each Replacement Sheet including annotations indicating the changes made to the previous version. The marked-up copy must be clearly labeled as "Annotated Sheets" and must be presented in the amendment or remarks section that explains the change(s) to the drawings. See 37 CFR 1.121(d)(1). Failure to timely submit the proposed drawing and marked-up copy will result in the abandonment of the application.

The objection to the drawings made in the Office Action of April 23, 2009 is maintained. Applicant's arguments filed September 23, 2009 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues that the Figures 1A-1C are sectional views taken at some unknown sections and that one would be able to understand them by reference to Figures 2A-2B. The Examiner cannot agree in that he has spent hours trying to understand these drawings without success; in the several thousand patent applications examined in the last 26+ years the Examiner has always been able to understand an adequately disclosed device, no matter how complex. Few of the numerals in Figures 1A-1C appear in Figures 2A-2C, and vice versa, so looking from one set of Figures to the other the reader can find little correspondence. In the few cases where a comparison can be made, such as 78, 80, Figures 1A-1C do not appear to be a comprehensible sectional view of Figure 2B.

Applicant further argues that the original drawings in the provisional application shows the center of rotation offset from axis of the end pins. Even if this is the case, the drawings fail to show an operable rotary valve. The ports and flow paths of the rotor as shown in the drawings do not appear to be capable of aligning with the ports of the stator, and the Examiner cannot begin to understand how the flow paths of this valve are supposed to be configured.

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1 and 5-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. The specification fails to enablingly disclose an operable valve and hence an operable HPLC system as recited in the claims. There is no enabling disclosure of what a pin valve is or how it works. Even understanding that the center of rotation is offset from the end pins, there is no enabling disclosure of flow paths which can be switched with motion of the valve head. There is no enabling disclosure of a valve or of valving in the structure disclosed.

Applicant's arguments have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. As set forth above regarding the disclosure and the drawings, it is believed that a routineer in the art would require undue experimentation to arrive at an operable embodiment given the original disclosure in this application.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
